

Dianna Campbell

Dianna Campbell is the Director of Choral Activities at Seminole Community College in Sanford, Fl. She directs the Concert Chorale, SeminoleSound Vocal Jazz Ensemble and the Community Choir. She also teaches Private Applied Voice, Fundamentals of Music, Music Appreciation and Voice Skills for the non-major. Previously, Mrs. Campbell was the choral director at Lyman High School in Longwood and taught choir, keyboard and musical theater. She served as the Director of Music at Central Christian Church, Orlando from 1991-2003. Active in many professional organizations, Dianna Campbell has served as District Chair for the Florida Vocal Association, and is currently the R&S Chair for Two-Year Colleges for the American Choral Directors Association. She is engaged as a clinician and adjudicator throughout the state of Florida for such organizations as the Grady-Rayem Negro Spiritual Contest, Heritage Music Festivals USA, Wednesday Music Club, Disciples Musicians and is an FVA Certified Adjudicator. Dianna also enjoys the stage, performing a variety of styles herself. Mrs. Campbell received her Bachelors in Music Education from the University of Florida with high honors and her Masters in Music, Choral Conducting from the University of South Florida. She is a member of the Women's Honorary Music Society, Sigma Alpha Iota and of Phi Kappa Phi Academic Honor Society. Dianna lives in Sanford with her husband, Scott, and son Austin.

7-6-07